

Equality Statement

WEAG are committed to fostering an environment of inclusivity and respect. We believe that diversity enriches our insights, broadens our understanding, and deepens the impact of our work. Our commitment to equality recognises the strength that comes from diverse backgrounds, abilities, perspectives, and experiences to uncover our shared histories through community archaeology.

We strive to create a welcoming and supportive community where everyone feels valued and empowered to contribute to archaeological practice. We are dedicated to ensuring that all members, volunteers, and third-party participants have equal access to opportunities and resources within our control, promoting fairness and challenging barriers to participation in archaeology.
